Old Havana City Tour

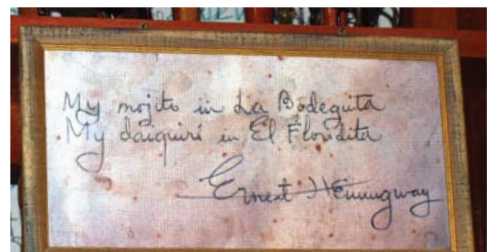

The city-center of Havana is jam-packed with timeworn fortresses, grandiose government buildings, historic squares, notable cemeteries and a vibrant local arts and handicrafts scene. On this four-hour bus ride you'll see them all and more with an exciting exploration of Cuba's capital city. You'll begin at Morro Castle, a stately fortress named after three Biblical magi, before admiring Cuban sculptor Jilma Madera's Cristo de la Habana statue, which keeps watch over the bay. At the 18th-century La Caba  a, you'll see the third largest citadel in the Americas. Enjoy a passing glimpse of El Capitolio, an imposing building that served as the seat of Cuban government until 1959, and then stop for photos in Plaza de la Revoluci  n, site of many Cuban political rallies and Fidel Castro speeches. During your walking portion through the Colon Cemetery, you'll hear of the country's famous filmmakers, politicians and baseball players in their final resting place. After a drive down the seaside esplanade of El Malec  n, you'll arrive at Almacenes San Jos  , a market where you can shop for leather goods, ceramics, ornamental items, art, and other handicrafts.

Hemingway's Havana

Explore the literary connections between Cuba and the late American novelist Ernest Hemingway on a dynamic four-hour tour that offers the chance to see where he lived, fished, dined and sipped his favorite cocktails. Your day begins with a short coach ride south of Havana to the small, working-class town of San Francisco de Paula to see the Finca Vig  a. From the exterior of this fully restored "lookout house," where Hemingway lived and worked for 20 years, a specialized guide will offer background on the residence where the celebrated author penned some of his famous works, including For Whom the Bell Tolls and Old Man and the Sea. You'll then delight in a panoramic bus tour through the old fishing village of Cojimar, where you'll see a monument dedicated to Hemingway shortly after his death in 1961 — listen along as a special guest delivers a bit of history on Hemingway and the Cuban connection in front of the monument. Stop by the nearby La Terraza de Cojimar, a favorite dining establishment of Hemingway's, to enjoy their sweet Don Gregorio cocktail, before venturing past Havana's popular Malec  n waterfront esplanade and into the older part of the city. At La Florida, a former hangout of the writer, you can peruse literary memorabilia and see the life-size bronze statue of Hemingway. A walk by Obispo Street to Hotel Ambos Mundos, where Hemingway lived for seven years in the 1930s, will be included before returning by foot to the ship — for an additional fee, you can opt to view his hotel room before independently returning to port.

Tropicana Night Club

The stage is set for you to be enraptured by Cuba's world-famous Tropicana Cabaret, with an open-air, evening extravaganza unlike you've ever experienced before. Since opening in 1939 in Havana's suburb of Marianao, the Tropicana continues to present Las Vegas-style variety shows and musicals that highlight Cuban and Caribbean folklore. It's become one of Cuba's most beloved attractions, and you'll experience it all with a package that includes entrance to the show, assigned seating, a welcome drink, plus a    bottle of Havana Club rum with a mixer to stir up cocktails throughout the evening. Settle into your seat nestled under the open sky and tropical garden environs. Once it is show time, you'll be awed as nearly 200 glitzy performers and showgirls festooned in feathered headdresses and colorful costumes take the stage to sing and dance accompanied by a live orchestra that delivers the rhythms of Latin jazz, rumba, conga and salsa. This is an authentic Cuban tradition you can't miss — and certainly won't soon forget.

Cuban Visas & Medical Insurance Disclaimer:
